Students are encouraged to apply by the priority deadline to allow adequate time for course registration.

HOW TO APPLY

1. Apply online. Go to www.admissions.unc.edu/Apply and click “Readmission Students.”
2. Submit requested application materials:
   - $80 application fee
   - Official transcripts of any coursework completed in the time since you withdrew from UNC. Please note you must have maintained a 2.0 or higher GPA at all previously attended institutions in order to be eligible to return.
3. Resolve any holds that might have been placed on your student account. You can view these holds by visiting your ConnectCarolina Student Center. Instructions will be included on how to clear holds due to academic deficiencies, Dean of Students issues, overdue student accounts, or Counseling and Wellness issues. (Academically ineligible students are able to return for summer sessions in order to restore their eligibility.)
4. After submitting your application, continue to check your ConnectCarolina Student Center for updates. Within 1-2 days after submitting your application, you’ll see an updated Admissions To-Do List with any outstanding materials.
5. When your decision is ready, you must view it and accept or decline your offer on your ConnectCarolina Student Center. After replying, please allow for an additional one to two business days for matriculation and access to registration.

WHO SHOULD APPLY FOR READMISSION?

Any previously enrolled student who:
- Has not been enrolled in classes due to personal/health issues, internships, etc.
- Is currently serving a suspension through the Dean of Students Office
- Withdraw through Counseling and Wellness Services or Campus Health Services
- Withdrawed at the end of the semester and has already registered for the next term. (Please note that students withdrawing from the University will not be able to retain classes already registered.)
- Is currently only enrolled in Carolina Courses Online and anticipates becoming academically eligible for the next term. (We encourage you to apply well before the deadline.)

ACADEMIC ELIGIBILITY

*If your academic ineligibility is due to an insufficient grade-point average, you must raise your GPA by enrolling in additional UNC-Chapel Hill courses to restore your eligibility. You may:
- attend UNC-Chapel Hill Summer School by submitting a readmission application
- enroll in and complete appropriate Carolina Courses Online

Students who complete summer courses on campus with satisfactory grades and restore their eligibility will be able to continue their studies at UNC without further action. Students completing Carolina Courses Online will need to apply for readmission to be eligible to take courses on campus in the fall, spring, or summer sessions.

If your academic ineligibility is due to an insufficient number of academic credit hours passed, you may pursue the options above or transfer credits from another college. Both your advisor and Undergraduate Admissions should approve the course before you take it. Speak to your advisor for more information.

FREQUENTLY ASKED QUESTIONS

How long does the application process take?
After you have submitted your application, all requested materials have been received, and there are no further items on your Admissions To-Do List, you may expect a decision on your ConnectCarolina Student Center within 3-5 business days.

I applied for readmission weeks ago, so why can’t I register?
Please view your ConnectCarolina Student Center:

- There may be a hold on your account, or we may need additional information to make a decision. Your Admissions To-Do List will show any materials or information you still need to submit.
- Once a decision has been reached on your application, you must formally accept or decline the offer of admission on your Student Center before you will have access to course registration.

Why can’t I log into my ConnectCarolina account?
If you are having any technical issues with ConnectCarolina, please contact the IT Help Desk at (919) 962-HELP.

When should I complete a summer school visitor application or a Part-Time Classroom Studies application?
Never. If at any point you were enrolled at UNC as a full-time student, you should complete a readmission application.

I’m applying online and my major is no longer listed. What should I do?
Majors that require pre-requisites within our professional schools are not listed on the online application; choose another major and note your actual major in the free-response section of the application.

I want to attend both Summer Session I and II and continue into the fall, do I need to complete an application for each term?
No, complete one application for the Summer Session I and if you are eligible or become eligible for the fall, you will be granted access to fall registration as well.

I’ve been approved to return to campus as a non-traditional readmit, why can’t I register for classes?
If Academic Advising has approved you for readmission as a non-traditional student, you must still apply for readmission.
